Foreword

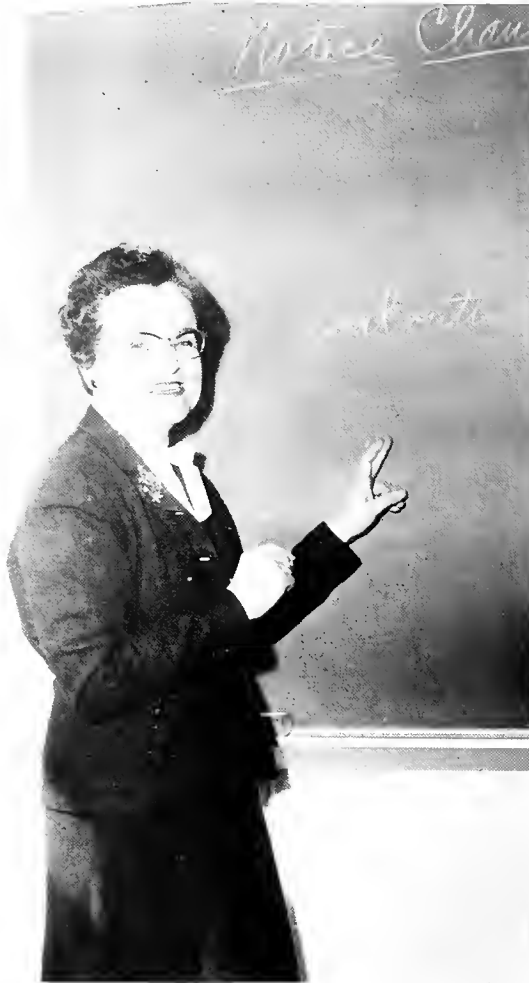

WANTING to create an AURORA worthy of Harriton, its faculty, and student body, the 1960 staff has chosen as its theme "Local Color." The cover, in design and color scheme, imparts the mellow richness and refined simplicity characteristic of communities surrounding Harriton. A decorative map of the area from which Harriton draws the bulk of its students serves as the endsheets. In the section dividers one finds the fullest expression of the theme. The Bryn Mawr College Library was selected to introduce the faculty section because it is symbolic of the inspiration instilled by devoted teachers to attain higher knowledge. As the seniors leave Harriton, they will enter the portals of a new kind of life. Thus the Haverford College Gate is used for the senior section to signify both the termination of one way of life and the inception of another. Montgomery County Day School, which provides the opportunity for students to prepare themselves for high school in a country atmosphere while pursuing their studies, represents the juniors and sophomores of Harriton. Stressing service, co-operation, and loyalty, the Bala-Cynwyd Women's Club symbolizes Harriton's extra-curricular activities, through which are learned the meaning of team work and good citizenship and the joys of sharing. The Merion Cricket Club opens the sports section because it denotes the importance of developing healthy bodies in addition to sound minds.

The Main Line area encircling Harriton has afforded to the school body a rich heritage; it has been a determining factor in the formulation of high academic standards and an active interest in cultivating various talents through participation in clubs and athletics.

Having chosen "Local Color" as the theme, the 1960 Staff of the AURORA sincerely hopes that Harriton's faculty and students will continue not only to reap the benefits of their environment but to perpetuate that which they have inherited.

DEDICATION

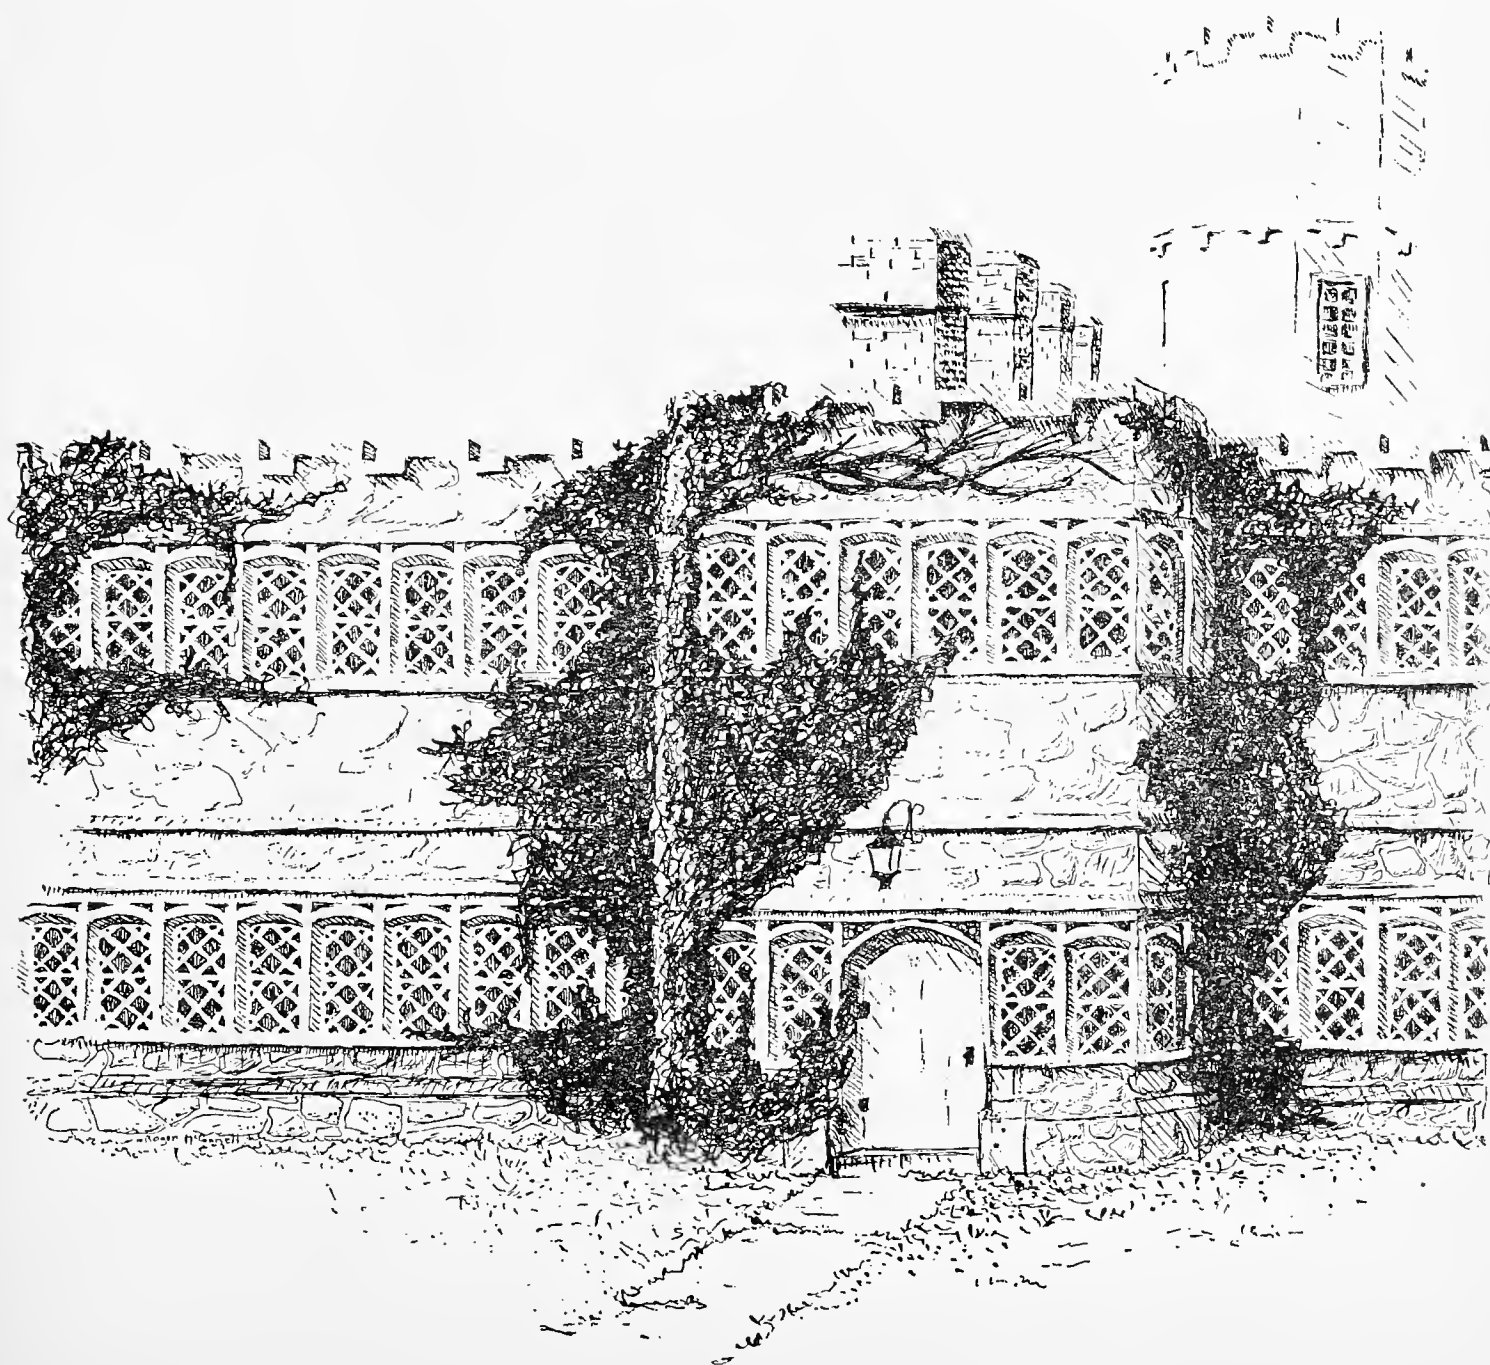

Because Miss Myrna Sheely so often stimulates the seniors of Harriton to develop freedom of expression and initiative, the 1960 AURORA is being dedicated to this outstanding individual. This is Miss Sheely's thirty-second year of teaching in the Lower Merion School District. During this time, her remarkable devotion to the students has been demonstrated by the duration of her school day which begins at eight a.m. and ends at four-thirty p.m. or later.

As a friend, teacher, and advisor, Miss Sheely always welcomes eager pupils. Her many cultural interests and experiences are shared with her music, art, and literature class, as well with her regular senior English sections and Special English. Willingness to correct that all-important essay question for a college application or to help her homeroom aspirants in selecting courses is indicative of her sincere interest. She also serves as enthusiastic sponsor of the Thespian Society.

Miss Sheely instills in her students the enthusiasm and courage which she, herself, possesses. She points the way to new and challenging paths for the understanding of the mind of man thus giving her pupils a valuable appreciation of the liberal arts.

No student ever entering J-96 will deny that Miss Myrna Sheely leaves a lasting impression: to think, to learn, to create.

FACULTY

BRYN MAWR COLLEGE LIBRARY

Bryn Mawr College in Bryn Mawr was founded by the Society of Friends in 1885. The campus buildings, which are fashioned in Gothic style, stretch over the entire seventy-acre campus. Used for research and study, the Bryn Mawr College Library serves as a center for both academic and cultural realms of the college. The library was founded by N. Carey Thomas and contains a quarter of a million volumes and a thousand periodicals.

ADMINISTRATION

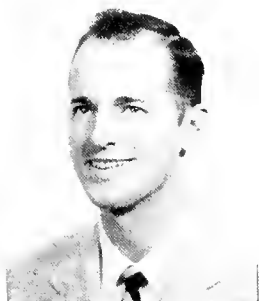

TO THE CLASS OF 1960

A class, like an individual, is best remembered for the things that it leaves, rather than those that it takes. You students, the Class of 1960, take with you the knowledge of facts, the skills, the techniques, and the appreciations which will make it possible for you to continue to study and to grow, to earn a living and to serve a community. You are leaving an example of strong dedication to a worthy purpose, of sacrifice for common ends, of individual initiative and creative imagination, and of loyalty both to ideals and to an institution.

We at Harriton will always be richer for your having spent these last two years in this school. You have contributed greatly to its growing tradition and have set high standards of student leadership and cooperation. We shall watch with pride to see what memorable traces you leave on each successive stage of your journey.

Good Luck,

SCHOOL PERSONNEL

Always serving with greatest efficiency, the cafeteria staff, custodians, secretaries, and office aides assisted the school whenever and wherever necessary. These people worked cheerfully behind the scenes many extra hours to support functions sponsored by the school.

The cafeteria staff, custodians, secretaries, and office aides were an integral part of Harriton life; without their skill and co-operation the school body would not have been able to operate smoothly.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

In the fall of 1958, tradition at Harriton was a blank canvas, untouched by precedent, but on which students and faculty, for years to come, would draw and paint that elusive thing called "tradition"; improving, changing, but never quite completing the painting. The Class of 1959, with the help of underclassmen, drew the original sketch, forever establishing the content of the picture "Harriton Tradition." Some lines were bold and sure, some lightly sketched.

We, the Class of 1960, with the able assistance of juniors, sophomores, and faculty, have endeavored to clarify the shadowy portions and enrich the design with the colors of scholarship, leadership, sportmanship, friendship, and loyalty. It is now time to pass on the work to the Class of 1961. It is their heritage to wield the brush with care and wisdom, realizing that from their continued efforts may emerge a masterpiece.

Foreign Exchange Program

Miss Easter, whose hard work and patience have made the Foreign Exchange Program at Harriton possible, pauses for a few minutes with her two AFS students.

Pete Waitneight, president of the Student Council, introduces AFS students Michele Soffian, Jette Petersen, Brigitte Kogl, and Bunny Saam in an assembly program at Harriton.

Christmas caroling in any language conveys the same meaning: 'peace on earth, good will to all men.'

Under the auspices of the American Field Service, the senior class of Harriton was honored to have Brigitte Kogl from Vienna, Austria as one of their classmates. Her American sister, Connie Billian, soon discovered that there was little language barrier between them. Because of her warm, vibrant, and charming personality, Brigitte had no trouble making new friends and meeting the challenges of a different environment. Always on the go, she proved to be a hard worker, and her efforts were particularly directed at her favorite subject, chemistry. Without Brigitte the senior class of 1960 certainly would have lacked some of its distinction.

Last June, Bunny Saam traveled to Belgium, where she represented Harriton under the Americans Abroad Summer Program of the A. F. S. Bunny spent almost three months living with two French-speaking Belgian families, one in Brussels, the other in Hasselt. They took her to visit the World's Fair, almost every city in Belgium, and even Dusseldorf, Germany. After a wonderful summer filled with rich, new experiences, Bunny returned to Harriton where she enthusiastically related to others her trip abroad and headed the Foreign Exchange Committee.

CLASS HISTORY

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE SENIOR CLASS

It was over. The graduating class of 1960 sat quietly in the morning-after silence of the Haverford College Field House, thinking about the things which had brought them from that first panic-filled morning to this serenely calm one.

They thought back to Thursday, September 4, 1958 and the sense of bewilderment and fear which had engulfed them. How quickly organization had come from chaos as they first saw Dr. Wilfred B. Wolcott, Principal of Harriton, standing on the stage to welcome them. How strange to be sitting in front of a sign marked "Juniors."

From the opening assembly, it was just a step to homerooms and elections. First, class officers: the all-important leaders of the first junior class to enter Harriton. Peter Waitneight, elected president, proved more than once that their confidence had not been misplaced. Jane Eger's quiet competence as Vice-President won her the same post the following year. Anne Hahn kept neat records of junior activities in her secretary's book, while Don Jordan managed the badly depleted treasury with good sense and created a sound credit-rating for the class.

Sports, an important part of every school, were well supported by the class, which contributed outstanding members to each team. It was proud of Joe Miller who was chosen for the All-Suburban Soccer Team as a junior and again as a senior.

The spring sports season began on a note of gloom whose key was the word "without": without a track, a baseball diamond, equipment, or experience. Each meet set school records and the junior class held many of them. George Sokol fired the tennis team and evoked shouts from the community, school, and his junior classmates by becoming the State Singles Champion.

May 2, 1959, Harriton turned pink. "Think Pink" was the theme of the Junior Prom which hit harder than anything before or since. Its piece de resistance was a huge pink elephant created by Gail Goodman. Able class sponsor, Mr. Leroy Hollingsworth, urged pink-smeared painters and drapers on to greater things with promises of pool-side days to come.

Educational testing came to the fore as the National Merit Scholarship Preliminary Examination was administered to quaking juniors in the cafeteria and homerooms. At the end of the three-hour period, the test was finished and so was the class.

Also in May came the announcement that Bunny Saam had been chosen to represent the school in the American Field Service Summer Program. She spent the two months in Belgium, and returned speaking impeccable French.

At last it was June, and although the class had another year to spend at Harriton, it received its share of honor on Class Day. Peter Waitneight was presented with the Harvard Club Award for the Most Outstanding Junior. The class' collective chest swelled and almost burst its buttons in anticipation of what they would do . . . next year. Then, in a haze of pride, they scattered for the summer.

It was September again, but it wasn't the same. They knew what they should do and how to get where they were going, and they were seniors.

An addition to the senior class was Foreign Exchange Student, Brigitte Kogl, dark eyed, laughing, Austrian, who amazed them with her English.

Class officers, elected before vacation, began organizing with a ferocity which terrified their mates. Led by versatile Parry Hesselman, the officers, Jane Eger, Margie Young, and Ed Sterne, set in motion the machinery which made a senior year.

Also swinging into action was the staff of the Aurora: Editor-in-Chief, Wendy Acker assisted by Paul Halpern and Dick Scott; Business Editors, Carolyn Hubsch and Barry Kohn; and Art Editor, Jeri Decker. They established meeting days, times, and places, and with a large staff ready to go, started to assemble the yearbook.

In October the long awaited class rings with the magic number '60 arrived and were proudly displayed before envious sophomores and juniors. Next in line for hard-earned senior dollars was the photographer with his black velvet drape, blinding lights, and swiftly wearying, "Smile please."

New honor came to the class when Rodger Digilio was informed that he was a Merit Scholarship Semi-Finalist, and after another grueling session of testing, that he had qualified for a Merit Scholarship.

Paul Halpern, "Forum" pundit, received the Harvard Cup for Journalism for his outstanding reporting, and the class cheered loud and long at the presentation.

Throughout the fall and winter, college acceptances had come slowly to early applicants, but with March came a flood by which the "wait-until-Mays" were driven mercilessly to distraction. College Boards were taken with trepidation and the all-important scores were eventually received by an anxious guidance department and class.

The last snow began to thaw and class members could be seen transforming the gym into a Roman garden for the March 19 "Roman Fantasy." Again under the direction of Gail Goodman, angel-haired, white washed crews struggled with high white trees, pillars, and ceiling fit for a palace.

April brought other individual honors to the class in the form of Jane Alsop's election as The Optimists' Girl of The Month, and Jim Markleys' winning a first prize in the Senior Space Sciences Division of the Delaware Valley Science Fair.

As the year drew to a close the seniors looked back at the three courses, Special English, Psychology, and Music, Art, and Literature, which were exclusively theirs. Each of these played an important part in the development of their ideas and ideals.

Then there was the final acknowledgement of their seniorship, measuring for caps and gowns. With this acknowledgement came Spring, late, hot, and stultifying, and the campus was dotted with strolling seniors forgetful of their studies and preoccupied with the thought of college.

June 10 dawned and passed as the class spent their last day in the educational pursuits of Harriton.

Two days of marching brought them to June 15, Class Day, and the eagerly anticipated Class Trip to Valley Forge Country Club where they sunned and swam.

Finally, after twelve years of waiting, it was four o'clock Thursday afternoon, June 16, 1960 and they were graduated.

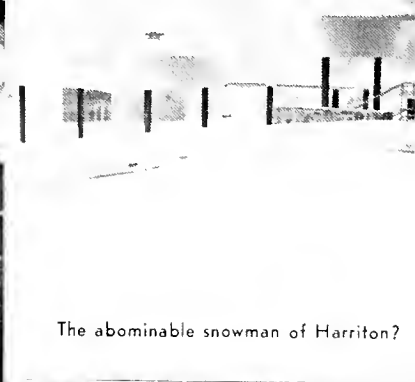

After an afternoon and evening filled with jubilation, they had gathered in the Field House, together, as a class, for the last time. And as people will do they talked about the thing they had in common, their years at Harriton.

BALA-CYNWYD WOMEN'S CLUB

A landmark on the Main Line since 1912 is Bala-Cynwyd Women's Club, located on Bala Avenue near Levering Mill Road in Bala-Cynwyd. Initially composed of only thirty-five members, the club has conscientiously helped the community throughout the years in adherence to its motto: "Willing service, co-operation, loyalty."

KNEELING: J. Alsop, B. Saam, Co-Captains. STANDING: S. Greene, C. Hoffer, D. Franklin, S. Oglesby, M. Young, E. Asam, B. Hevner, K. Gaskin, L. Decina, A. Decina, M. Cox, R. Fidler, M. Koopman, B. DeLuca.

"Stand up and cheer!" briefly states the motto of the members of this year's cheer-leading squad. These Highlanders, under the direction of their sponsor, Mrs. Hummer, began several colorful traditions at Harriton. In the fall they organized a Junior Varsity squad to cheer at J.V. games. Later, the girls added sparkle to their outfits with Scotch Plaid hats. In addition to the novel cheers and chants of the squad, a great mascot increased the spirit at the Conestoga football game. It was a year of rallies and enthusiasm led by Harriton's co-ed cheerleading squad.

CHEERLEADERS

One of the largest and most diversified groups that has become an active part of Harriton life is the Booster Club, sponsored by Mr. Leroy Hollingsworth. The purpose of the group was to support all school activities and to boost Harriton's spirit. The club achieved its aims by making posters, sponsoring rallies, and supporting all sports events. Selling the red and white Harriton book covers and stationery was another function of the club this year.

Membership in the club was opened to any sophomore, junior, or senior who was willing to devote thirty hours of his time and effort to the successful running of the group.

The Booster Club established itself as an enthusiastic addition to Harriton's life. Through its efforts, interest and spirit were gained in practically all school functions and activities.

Enthusiastic Harritonians give the football team a big send-off for the Cheltenham game.

Robbie Cobrin, news editor, and Forum members Richie Toub, Sandy Schaeffer, Wayne Kargher, and Matt Cunniff work hard to meet another deadline.

It is not always easy to be witty or thought provoking, as members of the Harriton "Forum" staff discovered, working diligently to uphold their motto "Toward Thought and Humor." There were many afternoons when the light in the "Forum" room continued to burn long after Harriton's day had ended for most people. Articles had to be written and rewritten, headlines counted and re-counted, pictures taken, articles typed, and countless other details attended to before the paper was ready for distribution. Scarcely a day went by without a crisis, as a frantic editor, with one eye on the clock and the other on the page, tried to remedy the situation before the inevitable deadline rolled around. It was always a race to the finish, but thanks to the sanity and resourcefulness of the staff, the "Forum" always made the deadline.

A week later, with the publication of the paper, the staff was well rewarded for their time and tears, trials and tribulations. In every instance, the "Forum" proudly justified the staff's motto. Of greater importance, the "Forum" consistently was a paper of the whole student body and a vehicle for student expression and opinion.

Members of the staff were grateful for the invaluable experiences they had in working on the "Forum." Besides gaining insight into the workings of a newspaper and improving their abilities in producing one, the satisfaction of creating a newspaper which was thoroughly appreciated by both students and faculty was beyond measure.

Although there was no real co-ordination until late in November, the four staffs of the AURORA began work as soon as school opened in the fall. While the art staff worked out a theme for the yearbook, members of the business staff diligently solicited ads. The literary group first tackled senior write-ups, a task which required much time and concentration. Throughout the entire year, photographers frequently surprised students and faculty by taking pictures at unexpected moments. Once the theme had been presented, a sense of unity was felt among the four groups. Then combined efforts were channelled toward creating an outstanding edition of the AURORA.

Deadlines kept staff members busy at school quite late on several occasions. Once or twice a get-together at someone's home was in order to bring yearbook work up to date. Yet the work seemed light in comparison with the fun shared, the new friends made, and the satisfaction felt when those pesky deadlines were met successfully.

In April those who had worked on the 1960 AURORA and several candidates for next year's staff played host to representatives from nearly seventy high schools in an annual yearbook conference held this year at Harriton. An exciting day rich with new experiences left all who attended with a new outlook on and understanding of the production of a yearbook.

The sincere interest, hard work, and excellent co-operation of all advisors, editors, and staff members made it possible to complete this large project successfully.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Functioning under the guidance of faculty sponsor Mrs. Graham and financial advisor, Mr. Marshall, the Student Council concentrated on promoting a closer contact between the administration and the student body. The Council was comprised of one elected representative from each homeroom and the chairmen of the various standing committee. These committees focused the responsibilities of the council on seven distinct areas: Assemblies, Campus Care, Foreign Exchange, Hospitality, Lost and Found, Public Information, and Ways and Means.

At the Council's bi-weekly meetings, student problems and school projects were presented, either by representatives or by committee chairmen, for group discussion. After carefully surveying the problems, the representatives came to decisions by means of a majority vote.

The accomplishments of this organization included a vast campus improvement program, the showing of two feature length films, a Christmas dance, several assemblies, which were both entertaining and educational, and the ratification of the Council's Constitution. This member of the National Association of Student Councils was very successful both in its phase of student government and its special function of bringing the student body closer together.

The Harriton chapter of the National Honor Society, sponsored by Mrs. Jones, initiated a campaign to focus attention on the value of honesty in the student body. President Rodger Digilio was aided by vice-president Margie Young, secretary Cookie Miller and treasurer Parry Hesselman in administrating the society's activities, which included selection of new members, an induction assembly, and a reception for the parents of the group. Membership in the Honor Society was based on scholarship, service, character, and leadership.

Nowhere in the school can one find a busier group performing service to both school and community than the Girls' Service League. Under the guidance and encouragement of their sponsor, Miss Marea Taylor, the girls had a very active, worthwhile year. In school the Girls' Service League gained recognition through the useful Buzz Books, the platypus sale, and the Crystal Ball Dance. The biggest undertaking of the year, the "Hearts n' Heaven" show and dance, strongly wove together the threads of friendliness, co-operativeness, and harmony. Although only a few activities have been mentioned, the girls' willingness to render service did not stop within the school limits. In the community their assistance to Care, Red Cross, and the Norristown Home for the Crippled exemplified the girls' eagerness to render service.

Membership consisted of thirty junior and senior girls elected in the fall by classmates and faculty, and fifteen senior members chosen the previous year. Each girl contributed her ability and enthusiasm to form the club so aptly named the Girls' Service League.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

At the Christmas Concert, the orchestra sets the holiday mood as Mr. Frech directs the group in a medley of carols.

ORCHESTRA

The Orchestra at Harriton was one of the activities which contributed to the excellent reputation of the school. It was given as a subject five times a week. The students had the opportunity of performing several times during the year in such functions as the Harriton Christmas Concert, the Annual Spring Concert, and various exchange programs with other schools.

The String Orchestra, a chamber group, was composed of the string section of the Symphony Orchestra. This aggregation performed at dinners, luncheons, and meetings. The experience of participating in such an organization helped the students to perfect their potentialities and to broaden their taste to include the finest in music.

Individual and small group performances were given by the better musicians throughout the year. There was a soloist at each concert given by the Orchestra, and sometimes a duet or trio was inserted in the program.

Every student was offered the opportunity of competing for a position in the South Eastern District Orchestra. This organization was composed of students from high schools throughout Southeastern Pennsylvania. Harriton students took an active part in the competition and many of them were successful.

The music played included compositions from both the classical and the contemporary periods. With this variety, the students gained a broad concept and appreciation of the music of the world.

BAND

The Band, a popular and versatile group, also sponsored by Mr. Frech, was seen this year at such varied functions as football games, basketball rallies, and formal concerts. During the first few months of school, the Band was a military organization which drilled daily to develop precision and discipline in marching. For the remainder of the year, it became a concert band, emphasizing the better selections of available music, in order to improve individual technique and ability.

Like the Orchestra, the Concert Band met five times a week but unlike the Orchestra, accepted boys only. It performed in the Annual Spring Concert and in exchange programs with other schools.

Membership in the Southeastern District Band was open to anyone who was successful in the competition. Several Harriton boys were part of the group this year.

Mr. Frech leads the band in a modern composition in a concert given for the Harriton family.

Lined up and ready to escort the bus to the end of the driveway, the band helps bolster school spirit on the day of the football game with Cheltenham.

The second year of the Concert Choir was devoted to improving the techniques of previous members and to introducing the essentials of choral music to the new members. Under Mr. Ronald Teare's skilled leadership, the importance of pitch, diction, timing, and tone quality were stressed. Rehearsals often involved rigid breathing control exercises by sitting on the edge of the seat with arms outstretched. With daily practice much improvement was soon manifest.

Participating in many of the school activities, the choir was in constant preparation. The Christmas performances this year were given at Welsh Valley Junior High School, Bala-Cynwyd Methodist Church, and here in Harriton's auditorium. The spring concert, the highlight of the season, was most successful.

An unusual practice of the choir was doing combined numbers with the orchestra. This proved successful and interesting even though it is rarely done in this area. After a year of hard work, the choir acquired polished performances including a wide variety of classical, popular and spiritual selections.

The Mixed Chorus, composed primarily of sophomores, was an organization of forty-five members. It functioned as a training group for the future concert choir. Here, tone production was of major importance. Participating in the Christmas and Spring Concerts, the chorus members gained experience in large public performances.

The vocal music department afforded pleasure to its members, the school, and the community through the universal language, music.

VOCAL MUSIC

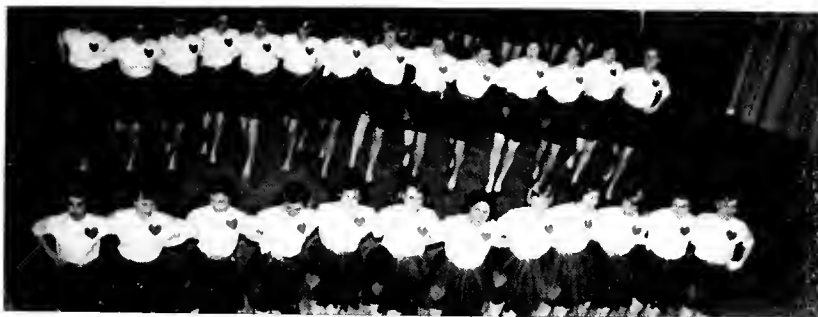

Mr. Teare gets set to give the downbeat for another vocal performance.

As the rest of the choir members follow their parts on their own, the bass section receives special help from Mr. Teare on a difficult passage.

Mr. Teare warmly congratulates Ed Elicker and Carol Mason, Harriton's representatives at Pennsylvania's Regional Choir. Ed and Carol, along with Carol Ayer, Jean Bader, and Vicki Bemis, also sang in the Southeastern District Choir.

GIRLS' SERVICE LEAGUE SHOW

In the early days of January, the Girls' Service League began rehearsals for an original show, "Hearts 'n Heaven." This was the girls' biggest project of the year, for they took upon themselves the writing and assembling of the entire production. After school each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, the girls rehearsed the individual and finale numbers under Miss Taylor's supervision and guidance.

The theme revolved around Cupid's matchmaking tricks. Each member of the League aided him by participating in various musical presentations. Music for the numbers was provided by the "Swingin' Pendulums."

"Hearts 'n Heaven" was given on Saturday, February 20, and was climaxed by the crowning of Harriton's cutest couple. The grand finale, arranged by Jean Renneisen, was dedicated to the king and queen, and concluded the truly entertaining program.

The proceeds from the project were used to benefit the organizations of both school and community.

Members of the Little Theater become an "on-stage audience."

The Little Theater Group, at the suggestion of its sponsor Mrs. Murphy, adopted a new form of organization and membership admission qualifications for its 1959-60 season.

After sorting the ability and experience questionnaires filled out by interested students, Mrs. Murphy called a general meeting. At that meeting she appointed as temporary officers, Lynn Kimmelman, President; Mark Hallet, Vice President; Kathy Koopman, Secretary; and Alan Goldstein, Treasurer, each of whom was elected officially to the same position in January, 1960. A Board of Directors, among whom was divided the responsibility for the major areas of Little Theater endeavor, was also appointed at that time. The requirement for membership, as explained at the first meeting, was an active interest demonstrated through participation in some phase of the initial production.

The quickly moving comedy, Father of the Bride, was presented in December, 1959. It pictured Mark Hallet as an increasingly confused father about to lose his only daughter, Jeanne Scott, to a boy, Bill Ramsey, he says he doesn't know. To belie the words "weaker sex," Donna Regan appeared as the mother who had to cope with budding romance in her sons, Don Bailey and Richard Segal, and with the ultra-efficient caterer's representative, unforgettably played by Sally Oglesby. An excellent supporting cast added the final touch to a memorable performance.

At the conclusion of this production, the officers and board of directors met and, with the aid of evaluations from committee chairmen, drafted a membership list, to which the names of Thespians were automatically added.

In early February, an initiation dinner, at which Mrs. Murphy administered the pledge of membership, was held. In order to complete the festivities, several of the newly initiated displayed their specialties.

At the same time, plans for a spring production were being formalized in the group's effort to provide the best in Off-Broadway entertainment.

NATIONAL THESPIAN SOCIETY

As the curtain opened on the 1959-60 school scene, the National Thespians Society of Harriton was once again ready to take command.

The main purpose of this society was to provide high caliber entertainment for the student body and to inspire students to take an active interest in drama. In striving toward their goal, the Thespians presented the one act play Two Crooks and a Lady in an assembly program, under the direction of Miss Myrna Sheely, sponsor.

Members of the Little Theater Group who had devoted one hundred hours to dramatic work were eligible to apply for membership. Those applicants who were approved by the Thespian representatives and faculty were admitted into this honorary dramatic organization.

The big day has arrived, and the happy newly-weds march down the aisle.

WORLD AFFAIRS CLUB

Between October and April the World Affairs Club, sponsored by Miss Beatrice Easter, participated in seven student forums on current topics in co-operation with the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia.

Held each month, the forums consisted of round table discussions conducted by pupils from over forty Philadelphia area schools and a speech by a distinguished guest concerning the month's topic. Some of the subjects discussed at the Saturday meetings were Nationalism Below the Sahara, The World Refugee Year, India's Policy of Non-alignment, The Cuban Revolution, and United Nations' Technical Assistance.

The club also sent representatives on trips to the United Nations in New York and the State Department in Washington, D. C. Larry Nolte, Mat Cuniff, George Sokol, Rodger Digilio, Gene Desfor, and Ricki Lou Hammerman visited New York, while Steve Brazina, Wendy Acker, Jim Sumerson, Parry Hesselman, Jim Markley, and Sue Hunger toured Washington.

The year's highlight was the Eleventh Annual Model United Nations held April 28 at the University of Pennsylvania Museum. Harriton represented both Austria and Paraguay in discussions concerning release of African trust territories, control of the Suez Canal, and the problems of outer space explorations.

BUSINESS CLUB

The Business Club of Harriton High School, under the co-sponsorship of Miss Beatrice Easter and Miss Marea Taylor, continued in its second year of existence to acquaint the business students with good office practices and methods. In order to become a member, one was required to take at least one business subject. The club met once a month for activities such as listening to guest speakers, and discussing business procedure. The group also watched a skit staged by the Bell Telephone Company, and held a spring picnic at Valley Forge Park. At Christmas time the club sponsored a needy family, to which was donated food and gifts. This project was found to be very successful and worthwhile. Through experiences such as these the Business Club was able to give its members a glimpse of the situations with which one is confronted in the business world of today.

FOOTBALL

Harriton's able co-captains Pete Waitneight and Don Jordan meet with coaches Zimmerman and Wilcox.

Harriton's Varsity Gridders, who were expected to improve a weak inaugural season log of 1-5-1, experienced the frequent woes of a team in its early years of development. Despite the 0-6 record against Suburban II opponents, there were some outstanding performances by individuals, such as the vicious tackling of Kurt Leneis, and the powerful running of halfback Don Jordan. Much credit must also be given to the strong leadership of co-captains Don Jordan and Pete Waitneight. Losing their opener to the Conestoga Pioneers, 25-6, the Rams journeyed to Radnor where the Raiders were victorious, 35-8. Marple-Newtown, playing at home, won 19-6, and the powerful Ridley Township Green Raiders, one of the finest teams in the suburban area, swamped the Rams, 60-6. Springfield subdued the Highlanders next by a score of 20-0. With four games remaining, the Harriton outlook was somewhat hopeful, but the team lost to Plymouth Whitmarsh, 43-19; Cheltenham, 13-6; Upper Merion 20-0, and Penncrest, 19-0.

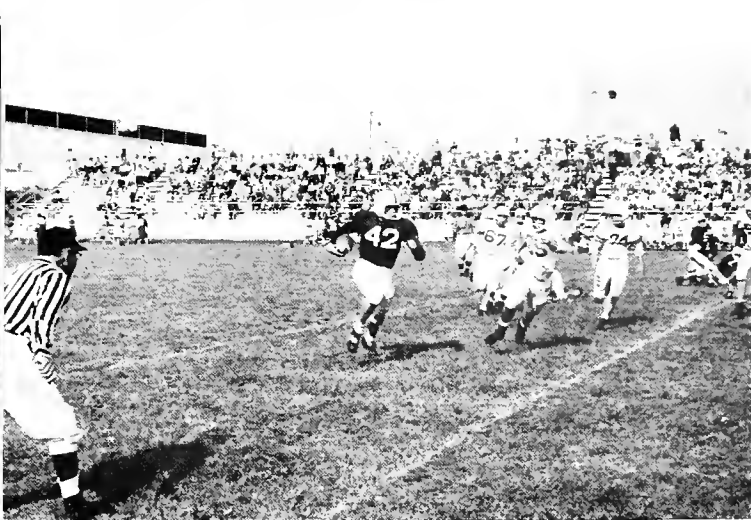

The Junior Varsity was more successful. They won their last game against Penncrest, 7-0, to post a seasonal mark of 1-7.

Captain Joe Miller receives the game ball from coach Ted Copeland after completing the final game of a successful season.

The second generation of Harritonians witnessed this year the first undefeated team in league competition. The soccer team completed a successful season with a 2-0-6 slate. This commendable record was accomplished with only six seniors on the Varsity squad. The prospects for next year are very bright, since ten of eleven Varsity starters are returning. During the year the line was sparked by Dick Altschuler and his very effective dribbling, plus Eds Fleming and his bullet-like shots at the goal. The half-backs were ignited by captain Joe Miller, while the fullbacks were kindled by novice John Jackson. The goal was ably defended by Jerry Estes and sophomore Mike Kirschner, who allowed only 17 goals to be scored on Harriton in league competition, while the Rams scored 28.

Encouraged by more than five hundred spectators, the Harriton soccer season had its highlight in the game with Lower Merion. The result was a one-to-one tie with Fleming scoring the Rams goal in the last two minutes of play. Dick Altschuler and captain Joe Miller were chosen for the Suburban League Team at the season's conclusion. John Jackson was voted the most improved player and was awarded the Halveston Cup. Joe Miller was voted the most valuable player.

The return of six letter winners from 1958 enabled this year's varsity hockey team to attain a successful season with a 6-2 record. Narrowly defeated in their initial outing, the team rebounded and won the second game against Ridley Township, 4-0. Nevertheless, the girls still had a hard fight ahead of them, for they lost the next game in the last minutes of play to Harriton's rival Haverford, 4-3. At this time, coach Barbara Heylmun with the assistance of captain Rita Carson introduced a new method called "minute-to-minute play" and instilled in the team a strong desire for victory. The result was new-found confidence and a dynamic spirit, for the team won its next five games with scores of 4-0, 5-0, 2-0, 4-0, 2-0 respectively. The evidence of the team's ability shows in their scoring of 25 goals while holding their opponents to a total of 7. High scorer for the season was Rita Carson with 11 goals. While referring to the achievements of the team, one should remember that it was a splendid combination of the forwards and the strong backfield that built such an outstanding record during the past season.

Captain Rita Carson smiles triumphantly at another victory.

Due to the effective coaching of mentor Harold Spealler and the spectacular running of sophomore Ken McCloskey, the 1959-60 Cross-Country team greatly improved last year's winless record by compiling a 3-4 log. McCloskey remained undefeated throughout the league season, placing first in seven consecutive meets. His record-shattering performances attracted large crowds to the dual meets.

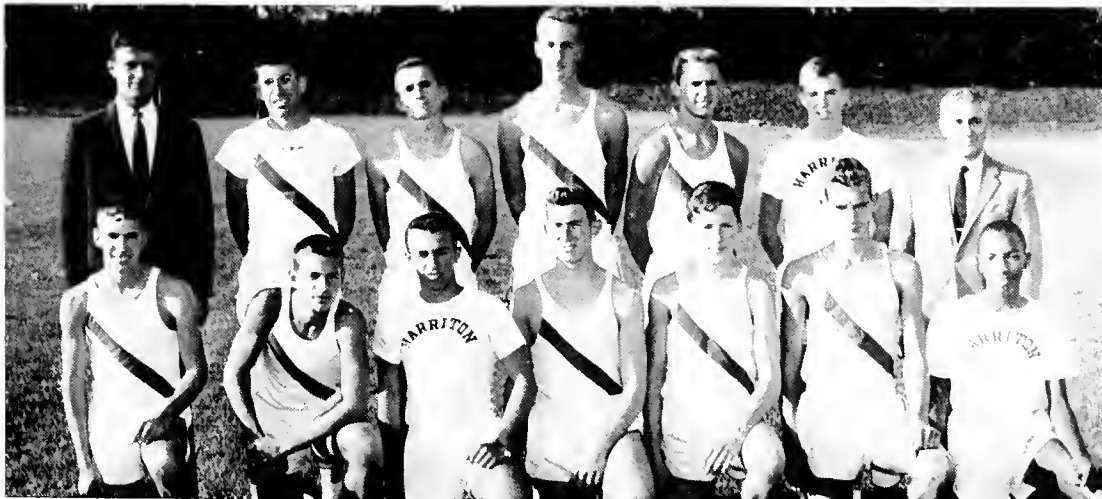

It was fitting that the Ram's best effort should be their last. They defeated Penncrest 44-17, placing five men in the first six slots.

The course record of 13:49.8 was established by McCloskey in a 34-20 loss to Marple-Newton, a team which Coach Spealler called "the toughest on our schedule."

Harriton placed twelfth in the district meet as McCloskey finished eighth. This qualified the sophomore for the state championships, held at Penn State, where, displaying his best ability, McCloskey finished fourth among the top runners in the entire state.

Despite the loss of this year's Co-Captains, Rodger Digilio and Ed Sterne, and five varsity letter winners, the forecast for next season is favorable. The return of five varsity men should aid in leading the Rams to future victories.

BASKETBALL

High scoring forward Al Stuart jumps high off the ground to sink two.

Senior forward and co-captain Joe Miller completes a jump shot in spite of Haverford opposition.

The faculty "sputnik" heads for the basket as all anxiously await the outcome.

The Harriton Cagers, led by coach William Fleming and sparked by senior veterans Joe Miller, Dave Newman, and Al Stewart aroused Harriton's hopes early in the season to win a Suburban II flag. However the team lacked depth in the backcourt. Their need for a good dribbler and playmaker was revealed as Harriton found itself harassed by presses and fast breaks.

Towards the end of the year, the squad dropped eight in a row and after defeating Penncrest, finished sixth in the league. The final upset occurred when the faculty five, paced by Will Fleming and Robert Ruoff, squeezed by the varsity for the second consecutive year.

FIRST ROW: B. Henderson, T. Hoffman, J. Miller, A. Stewart, P. Stine. SECOND ROW: B. Schmeer, S. Drury, C. Forgie, R. Toub, A. Braunfeld. THIRD ROW: M. Fleming, R. Digilio.

The Junior Varsity team is led by mentor James Getty and Captain Bill Jessup.

SECOND ROW: B. Sunstein, G. Bernstein, D. Sanborn, S. Hickman, B. Carvalho, B. Aronoff.

Coaches Harold Ferguson and William Zimmerman smile approvingly as Larry Hardham co-captain and Spike Hickman demonstrate their experience and skill.

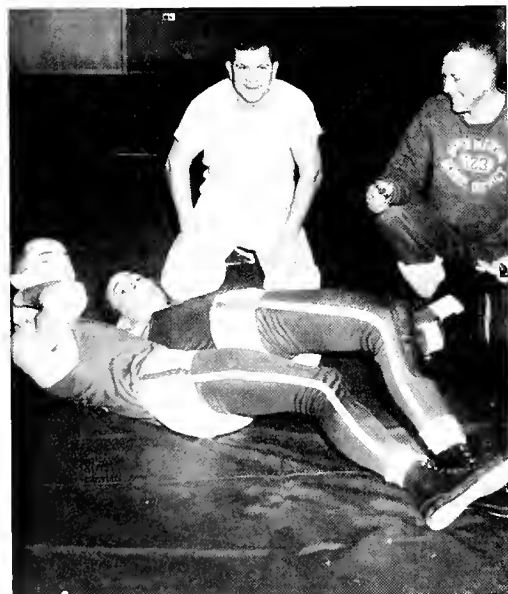

Under the tutelage of coaches Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Zimmerman, the wrestling team chalked up a 5-8 record. During the season the wrestling team was plagued by close individual contests. This fact was graphically pointed out by the Upper Darby and Springfield meets at which the individual wrestlers lost by one or two points, while the team suffered a three point loss. Terminating the wrestling season, John Jackson finished second to the Lower Merion wrestler at the Suburban I tournament; and, after a spectacular reversal in the exciting last six seconds of the second overtime period, Spike Hickman, who received the Ferguson cup, won the districts and finished second at the Regionals, after being defeated by a strong grappler from Manheim Central High School.

With a promising J.V. team and the loss of only three Varsity men, the outlook for next season is bright.

John Jackson and Bruce Buck were elected captains for next year.

The start of an exciting match looks favorable for Harriton.

Harriton's George McGann has the clock on his side as he brings in a victory over Lower Merion.

A pin for Harriton in a close match builds the interest of the Harriton fans.

BOWLING

At the end of the first half of the season, Harrington 1959-1960 Keglers, led by mentor Mr. Leinbach, were third in league competition. However, the six starters (Richard Abel, Woody Arnold, Jim Bolton, John Dubin, Gerry Gerson, and John MacDonald) sought higher goals. All six were varsity veterans from the previous year. Exhibiting the value of these players' experience, the team rapidly climbed from third place rank to first place.

Throughout the season, the squad demonstrated its ability to win consistently by retaining the king pin spot. Nevertheless, the bowlers finally met their equal when competing against Haverford. In this match the Fords edged the Rams and achieved the lead position that the Rams had held.

Next year's team may suffer the loss of several seniors, but the Junior Varsity prospects are very promising.

Demonstrating his winning technique, John MacDonald leads off for Harrington's bowling squad.

GOLF

The energetic golfers teed off again this year at Valley Forge Golf Club. Coach Stanley Westover and the team diligently practiced eighteen holes of golf often after school hours. With two returning lettermen, Bart Miller and Mike Saltzburg, and the addition of two feminine players, Jean Frommeyer and Sandy Walls, Mr. Westover predicted at the beginning of the season that the 1960 golf team would at least parallel the record established during the 1959 season. However, the team members had the high hope of setting an even better record.

FIRST ROW: B. Landis, J. McDonald, S. Walls, D. Newman. SECOND ROW: G. Alexander, J. Shore, B. Dubin, C. Katz, M. Saltzburg, E. Landau, S. Selbach, Mr. Westover.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls' basketball team under the auspices of a new coach, Miss Brown, compiled an excellent 6-1-1 record. Seven varsity letter winners returning from 1959 continued to exhibit their outstanding teamwork and ball handling. The guards, led by captain Petey Bainbridge, set up a strong defense. This fact was evident in the scoring results. Harriton's opponents had a low scoring total of 288 points compared to Harriton's 409 points. The consistent support of the forwards in addition to her own native adroitness enabled Barbara Taylor to score 165 points throughout the season, averaging 20 points per game.

The spirit, determination, and teamwork displayed by the girls proved the theory that ability is not the only qualification which guarantees the success of a team.

During practice the girls try to develop their under-the-basket strategy.

Jean Frommeyer exhibits the technique involved in a jump shot.

The girls anxiously watch the ball to see if Lynda Barton's foul shot will be successful.

At Petey Bainbridge's home, the girls celebrate the end of a successful season.

FIRST ROW: J. Watt, R. Bullard, R. Carson, C. Carr, R. Ibbotson, Miss Brown. SECOND ROW: C. Miller, B. Taylor, P. Driscoll, P. Bainbridge, D. Klien, J. Frommeyer, P. Minett.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

The Hahn's (who's who?) lead the team in spirit and strokes.

FIRST ROW: G. Lurwick, K. Koopman, L. Vogel, W. Hahn, A. Hahn, B. Hess, E. Coro, J. Calender. SECOND ROW: Mr. Spealler, P. Beuk, K. Durant, S. Skillman, C. Soleliac, T. Hahn, Miss Flounders.

Shivering at the edge of the pool, the girls contemplate a coming meet.

SWIMMING

Using the secret weapon "T.N.T." (the code is known only by the team members) Ann and Wissa Hahn felt that the 1960 swimming team had had an excellent season. Being unable to find a pool which Harriton could use regularly, the team was handicapped. Nevertheless, this proved only more strongly the outstanding ability that the mermaids had; for they succeeded in defeating Baldwin, whose teams practiced almost every day. Ann Hahn's fifth in the butterfly, the freestyle relay team's third, plus several sixth places helped Harriton to place eighth in the P.I.A.A. Districts.

Lower Merion's swimmers challenged Harriton's mermaids to a meet on March 11. Once more showing the capable coaching of Mr. Spealler, Harriton's swimmers showed their superior ability and style and defeated their rivals. This meet concluded the season with a seven wins, five losses, and one tie record.

GIRLS' LACROSSE

The Harriton stickgals scored a thrilling opening victory over their long unbeaten opponent, Haverford. This triumph gave the girls high hopes for their remaining matches. A portion of these high hopes were found on the excellent coaching of Miss Heylmun and the enthusiasm of captain, Patti Driscoll.

Nine varsity letterwinners returned from 1959, giving the team tremendous strength. Five of these nine were key defense players who built strong foundations and support for the Ramettes. With any team, there is always room for improvement; this year the girls concentrated on "bringing their stickwork up to their play."

The preceding season had been only the warm-up period. During 1960 the girls began to demonstrate their potential. Full utilization was made of their improved skills, pep, and good sportsmanship. As a result the team had no difficulty in attaining their high hopes of a winning season.

In team scrimmage Rita Carson, guarded by Patti Driscoll, flings a shot toward the goal.

FIRST ROW: C. Carr, L. Miller, B. Saam, R. Carson, P. Driscoll, J. Julicher, J. Hamilton, D. Klein, J. Eger, C. Carpenter, J. Alsop, Miss Heylmun. SECOND ROW: R. Ibbotson, P. Ross, L. Richards, K. Taylor, D. Deal, B. Taylor, M. Hesse, M. Koopman, T. Heaver, J. Collins, S. Rhimer. THIRD ROW: R. Fitler, L. Fox, M. Cox, J. Andrews, M. Caruso, N. Hughes, M. Watt, L. Strawbridge, S. Cooper, B. Elliot, C. Durant, J. Baker.

BOYS' TENNIS

Ned Saxman, second singles man for Harriton, follows through on his forehand drive.

George Sokol receives Most Valuable Player award from coach Carl Schneider.

One of the most successful boys' sports at Harriton was the tennis team. Led by coach Karl Schneider, the team compiled an amazing record as they bowled opponents over right and left.

First man for the team was all-state senior, George Sokol, whose powerful ground strokes and even temperament made him the finest net man in the area. Backing this star were Steve Borish, Andrew Braunfeld, Cal English, Mark Hallet, and Ned Saxman.

In commenting on this year's squad coach Schneider said "Their (the team's) desire to play winning tennis overcame one of Harriton's great deficiencies: no real school tennis courts. Harriton High School and friends salute George Sokol. His hard work, his leadership, sportsmanship, and competitive spirit identify him as one of the top junior players in the land."

Captain and 1959 all-state champion George Sokol smashes one over the net.

GIRLS' TENNIS

P. Bainbridge, A. Hahn, W. Hahn, K. Ramsey, A. Belmonte, A. Belmonte, L. Getty, Miss Gulick.

Opening the 1960 season, the girls' tennis team met Radnor April 12. Although Harriton had not had many practices prior to the match, coach Gulick felt that her team had enough support from its players to carry it through the contest. Once more the Highlanders upheld the hopes of their coach. The girls met Radnor and won 4-1.

The following matches were with Norristown, Haverford, and Cheltenham. In spite of this tough schedule, first, second, and third singles (Anne Hahn, Petey Bainbridge, Wissa Hahn) and first and second doubles (Alice Belmonte and Karen Ramsey, Ann Belmonte and Tootsie Hahn) proved their skill and upheld the victorious Harriton spirit.

Captain Petey Bainbridge talks with coach Jane Gulick before a challenging match.

With a strong nucleus of returning lettermen and a group of young prospects, the track team looked for a banner year. Among the returning lettermen were Don Jordan, hurdler and sprint man; Walt Reynolds, quarter-miler and broad-jumper; Alonzo Saunders and Ed Sterne, distance men; and Tony Watkins, sprinter and broad-jumper.

The newcomers were Bart Frame, half-miler and broad-jumper; Ken McCloskey, distance man; John Moffett, shot-put, discus, and javelin; and Bob Schnee and Al Stewart, high-jumpers.

The loss of such men as Jordan, Reynolds, Saunders, Sterne, and Watkins will force Coach Leroy Hollingsworth to rebuild his team by finding new prospects for next year.

Co-captain Walt Reynolds hits the tape to bring in a 440 victory for Harriton.

Harriton's Pete Stine is out in front as he nears the end of the 100-yard dash.

CREW

FIRST ROW: J. Anderson, E. Fenimore, H. Thomas, K. Herb, P. Halpern, E. Lange, R. Little, P. Fair, J. Burrows, A. Clammen. SECOND ROW: H. Andre, R. Rawson, V. Ferraris, E. Magee, E. Elicker, J. Stehlik, C. Roach, B. Carvalho, P. Desfor, W. B. Iian, M. Murphy. THIRD ROW: G. Esslinger, R. Schmalenberger, J. Hirsh, D. Zeisse, J. Whetstone, B. Anderson, B. Aronoff, J. Weitzel, D. Bailey, P. Waitneight, G. Painter, B. Derr, D. Edwards, D. Peirce, D. Rush. ABSENTEES: P. Hesselman, B. Buck.

Paul Desfor takes his turn on the crew's rowing machine.

Turning out in full regalia for St. Patrick's day, the varsity eight rowed up and down the Schuylkill River despite the thirty degree temperature. A few factors such as the choppy water, the building of a new dock, and the sinking of the motor launch continually hampered practice. However, with the arrival of spring, the combined Varsity and J.V. squads began practice in earnest.

On the weekend of April 23, at Princeton, Harriton finished second to the Hun School, while Lower Merion placed third.

Because of five returning lettermen and a strong J.V. squad, Coach Horner predicts a good year.

Willinson, J. Spencer, J. Bolton, W. Arnold, T. Hoffman, J. Huffman. THIRD ROW: A. Gerber, D. Hartzler, J. Spencers.

In scrimmage Bruce Weinroth gets set to tag out Matt Blum after an attempted steal.

The varsity baseball squad, led by Mr. Peitryka and Captain Woody Arnold suffered through woes of a team rich in potential, but lacking in confidence and experience. With only five lettermen returning, Woody Arnold, Dick Davidson, Marty Schotz, Frank Titlow, and Bruce Weinroth, the Rams were forced to rely on juniors, sophomores and first-year seniors for support. In spite of obstacles, the team improved steadily during the season.

The Highlanders opened this season against Ridley Township; and, except for the game with Cheltenham, a member of the Suburban I League, played completely in the Suburban II Bracket.

Next year the Rams will have returning Matt Blum, Bob Kagg, Shelly Greenberg, Bill Hearn, John Spencer, Frank Titlow, and Chip Wilkinson. With the experience gained this year, these boys should provide the backbone for a stronger team next year.

Dear John?
Well Dad here it is and you've got one more year.
You remember when I signed Ailene's year book and said I hoped our romance (yuk, yuk) would last forever. What a joke!
Now I've got my wife. I know at that time it was his now it's Gracie Good. Took with her and your future.
